

Here's the base to create your own unique piece of bedroom furniture. The smooth-running drawers have pull-out stops, which takes care of the practical side. All you need to do is oil, wax, lacquer, stain, stencil or paint it to make it personal. Of course, solid untreated pine looks warm and beautiful already. So you could just leave TARVA as it is and spend a bit longer in bed.

The everyday is the most important day

There are moments in life that are special. And then there's the everyday. All those Mondays, Tuesdays and Fridays that make up the days of our lives.

At IKEA we have always cherished the small moments in life. Those everyday happenings, the most ordinary things, like getting dressed, brushing your teeth or lying on the bed doing nothing. It's for those everyday moments that we create affordable home furnishings that make life at home not only beautiful, but easier too.

Because when your home works for the way you live, life itself will be simpler too.

This year we have put the spotlight on two of the most important areas of the home – where you sleep, and where you get ready for day and night. Because if everyone can make the everyday begin and end in a nicer way, just imagine the effect on life. Wouldn't it simply be better?

Cotton that makes us all feel more comfortable

IKEA Foundation

We love cotton because it's soft, breathable and renewable.

But we didn't like the fact that conventional farming can harm the growers and the environment. So IKEA made a commitment to help improve the industry.

>Working towards more sustainable cotton was learning by doing. Mostly it was close co-operation with the farmers. The farmers had practical knowledge about cotton cultivation. We and our partners had the theoretical skills. Together we could come up with better ways forward. Pramod Singh, IKEA Cotton Leader

IKEA has helped to spread more to address - and eliminate efficient farming methods that bring more profit for farmers at no extra cost to you.

Our efforts include co-founding the Better Cotton Initiative (BCI). Alongside BCI and our non-profit partners such as WWF, we've helped around 110,000 farmers in Pakistan, India, China and Turkey to boost their incomes and produce more sustainable cotton.

Children should only work hard at school

In 2001, IKEA introduced strict measures to prevent child or forced labour in any of our suppliers.

IKEA Foundation extends our values further. It works with Save the Children and UNICEF the root causes of child labour within cotton producing areas.

In India, for example, our donations have helped millions of children to get a better education and to improve their life prospects.

Girls, especially, can flourish in the safe environment of school, where what they learn can benefit the next generation too.

LABORG

Rugs of all kinds help to make your floor softer and warmer to walk on. As well as an eye-catching, two-tone pattern, LÄBORG has a weft of 100% jute. This strong, natural fibre is ideal for rugs as it's good at muffling sound and preventing heat loss. If you want to put LÄBORG on a smooth floor, we recommend using STOPP anti-slip underlays.

>I like how 8-12 year olds are direct and eager to share their opinions. So working with this textile collection was all about listening, hanging out and having fun. We agreed that good design is surprising and playful without ever feeling childish. Maybe design should take us to skate parks, malls and game rooms more often.«

Refugee families deserve a brighter future

IKEA Foundation is helping to bring solar power to refugee children and families.

Last year, with partners including the UN Refugee Agency (UNHCR), we helped develop an innovative new shelter. It's designed to give refugee families a secure place to call home and is already being tested.

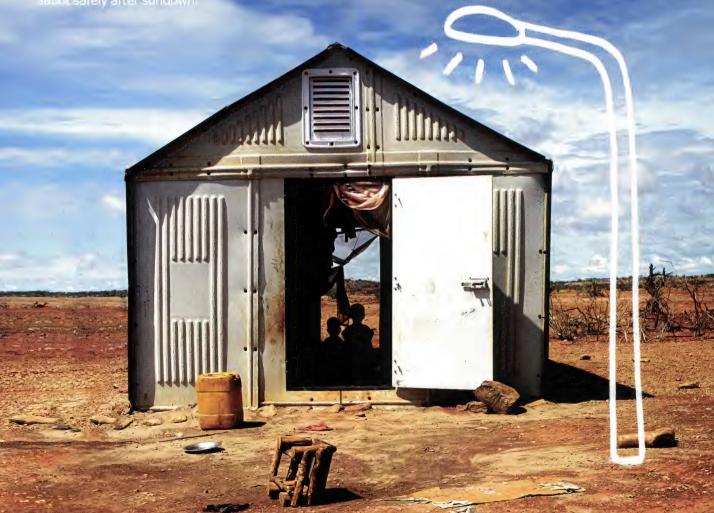

Solar lighting is our next priority. It allows people in refugee camps to learn, to work or just move about safely after sundown.

We're committed to creating a better everyday life for the world's most vulnerable children and families. IKEA Foundation assures the funding for further bright ideas – all to give refugees a brighter future.

As an IKEA co-worker, you won't just be selling furniture

You'll be helping people to enjoy a better everyday life at home.

Whatever our job title, IKEA co-workers want each customer to have a home that's beautiful, practical and affordable. And we want to have a positive impact on wider society and the environment.

We constantly look for better ways to achieve that. So we always need people who are passionate about home furnishing, share our values and entrepreneurial spirit and have a roll-up-the sleeves, can-do attitude.

Our business is home furnishing. But our priority is people's everyday life at home.

>I learned about IKEA from TV and soon became an IKEA FAMILY member. Through IKEA FAMILY I came to visit one of the IKEA offices. I was so inspired by the decoration and work environment that I decided I wanted to join the company. Working with the IKEA product design is very pleasant to me.<

David Fu, Visual Merchandiser

At IKEA we practise leadership by example. My role is to motivate and engage the team. My job as well as my team members' is to meet the customers and serve them in the best way we can. Providing people with a nice, comfortable environment and giving them good advice in their buying decisions.

Emma Olsson, Sales Team Leader

>If you have a dream and believe in something, the doors are open. It's up to you to make your dream a reality. There are always lots of possibilities within IKEA to influence and many opportunities to grow.

Noor Iftin, Inventory Control Specialist

Let's save together

The IKEA philosophy is all about bringing you beautiful furniture at the lowest possible price. The more that you choose to do, the less that you pay.

We do our part ...

When we develop a new product, we always start by thinking about the price. We decide on a figure that as many people as possible can afford. Then we find a smart, sustainable way to design, produce, package and distribute that product.

Take the famous IKEA flat pack. It saves fuel and time because furniture is much less bulky to transport when it's flat packed. So we can pass the savings on to you and you can take home your new sofa, chair or table much more easily.

... Then you do yours

Towards the end of your local IKEA store you'll find the Self-Serve Furniture Area. Here, can pick up your flat-packed items yourself, which also helps to keep prices low. And it's good to know that you can take home your purchases straight away.

At home, it's time to assemble your new furniture. That's when you really see how our low-cost philosophy all fits together.

We did our part – then you did yours. This is why you can enjoy great quality furniture at a very attractive price.

Want some help with that?

You get the lowest prices at IKEA when you pick up, take home and assemble your furniture by yourself. If you like to save time and energy, we also have some optional services to help.

Our great value services include ...

BOOK A VAN

Book a van with goget.com.au for as little as an hour, or as long as you need to drive your shopping home the same day. $13.90/hour + $0.40 per km

Each guarantee lasts for the number of years stated against each product, starting from the date of purchase.

What will IKEA do to correct the problem?

IKEA will examine the product and decide if it's covered under this guarantee. IKEA will then, at its choice, either repair the defective product or replace it with the same or a comparable product.

In these cases, IKEA will be responsible for the costs of repairs, spare parts, labour and travel for repair staff that IKEA incurs, provided that the product is accessible for repair without IKEA incurring additional expenditure to gain access. This will not apply in cases where repair work has not been authorised by IKEA. Any defected parts removed in the course of repair works will become the property of IKEA.

If the item is no longer sold by IKEA, IKEA will provide an appropriate replacement. IKEA will decide at its discretion, what will constitute an appropriate replacement.

IKEA goes solar

Here at IKEA we have big ambitions – by 2020 we want to produce as much renewable energy as we consume. As a first step towards achieving this goal, at the start of 2014 we began installing solar panels on all IKEA stores and warehouses in Australia.

By the time we're finished, we will have installed over 16,000 solar panels – that's enough to fill almost five soccer fields! So, this means that in the height of summer we expect to completely power our stores from the sun's energy.

These steps will help reduce our carbon footprint, contribute to a healthier environment and support our vision of creating a better, more sustainable, everyday life.

➤ To see more about our sustainability initiatives visit IKEA.com.au/peopleandplanet

Here's what 16,000 solar panels could do

- Power 778 Australian family homes for a year
- Avoid 5,660 tonnes of greenhouse gas emissions annually
- Run 860,000 LEDARE light bulbs (200 lumen) for 5 hours a day

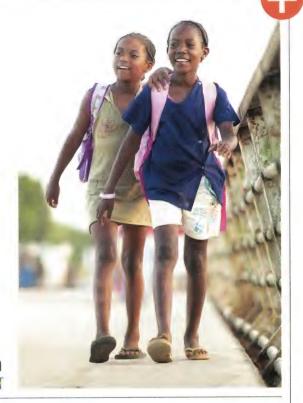

A hundred million happy stories

By 2015, the IKEA Foundation will have improved the lives of 100 million children living in the world's poorest communities. By picking the right partners and thinking long-term, we can:

- Help refugee children and families to create better lives
- Fight the root causes of child labour
- Empower women and girls

Since 2004, we've been helping children with basic necessities such as a safe home, a healthy start in life, a quality education and a steady family income. And, in the years to come, IKEA Foundation will help children and families to build their own foundation for a better life.

A better IKEA catalogue

The IKEA catalogue 2015 is the largest print production ever to be printed on 100% Forest Stewardship Council® Mix Credit paper and labelled with the FSC® logo. This means that the entire IKEA catalogue production chain, from forest to printer, is FSC-certified to ensure more sustainable origin of wood.

IKEA is committed to sustainable forestry and all wood raw material in the IKEA range must meet our forestry standards. We also work with the Forest Stewardship Council and other partners to make sure our wood is sourced from responsibly managed and certified forests.

Our goal is that at least half of the wood raw material in the IKEA range will be from more sustainable sources (FSC-certified or recycled wood). Once the 2017 goal is met, we will re-evaluate these criteria. Our ambition for 2020 is to reach 100%.

After you've enjoyed it, please recycle this catalogue.

Sustainable food at an affordable price

When you visit IKEA, we want to offer you food that's good quality, healthy and sustainable – yet still great value.

Care for ingredients

We work closely with our suppliers and other organisations to raise food standards and to put sustainability at the heart of our business. Working with Compassion in World Farming we aim to improve animal welfare. Together with WWF, we participated in a stakeholder dialogue that led to the current Aquaculture Stewardship Council (ASC) standard.

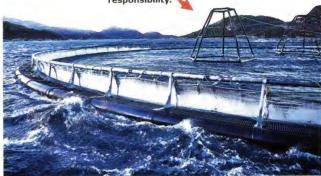

A new standard for salmon

Our delicious salmon grows in the cool, clear waters of Norway. By the end of August 2015, it will only come from fish farms that have been certified by the ASC.

Healthy options

At your IKEA restaurant you will always find healthy options and even organic baby food. In your Swedish Food Market you will also find a range of organic products to take home and enjoy.

To be ASC-certified, a fish farm must reach high standards of environmental and social responsibility.
